ICESCO Young Anchor Competition

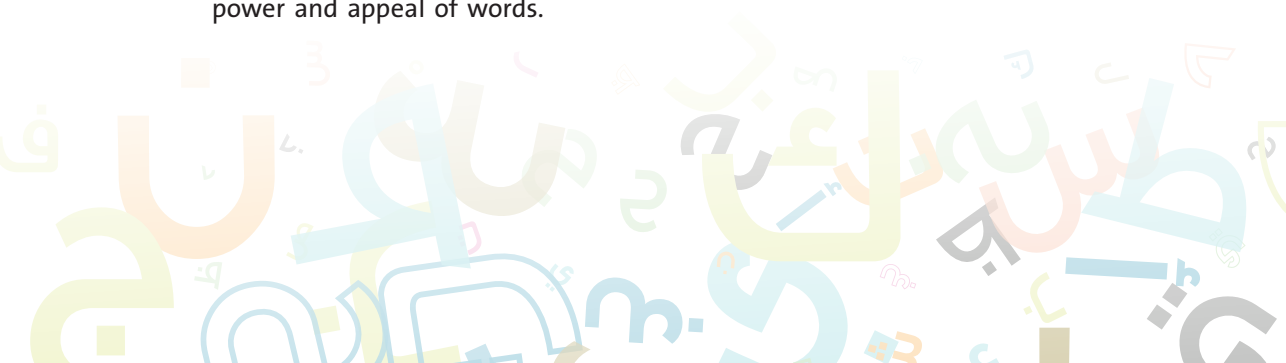

General Framework

In a world brimming with challenges and opportunities, today's children emerge as the decision-makers of tomorrow, armed with unique abilities and boundless potential. They are not just the leaders of tomorrow but also the catalysts for change in our world today. With their rapid learning and remarkable adaptability, our children have an exceptional ability to navigate changes and address challenges effectively. Through continuous learning and ongoing development, today's children demonstrate a remarkable readiness to tackle future challenges, making them not only potential leaders but also actual agents of positive change in their communities and the world. They are unquestionably the foundation of a brighter and more advanced future, inspiring the next generation of children.

Within the framework of the special care that the Islamic World Educational, Scientific, and Cultural Organization (ICESCO) provides to children, the ICESCO Center of Arabic Language for Non-Arabic Speakers is pleased to announce the launch of the "Young ICESCO Anchor" competition. This competition targets children who are non-Arabic speakers to encourage them to practice and master the Arabic language, expressing it on international platforms and global radio stations. Here, small ambitions meet great opportunities, and new voices find a space to shine and excel. This competition offers a golden opportunity to promote self-confidence, enhance communication skills, and develop linguistic and expressive abilities in children. Through this wonderful experience, we strive to build a generation capable of positively influencing their society and contributing to a better world through the power and appeal of words.
